Like so many fashionistas, Laura Flynn had always been plagued by the search for the perfect pair of jeans, which is what led her to open her Newport store last year. The retro-Western-style store carries fifty-eight styles of hard-to-find, highly coveted brands, like Yanuk, Kasil, True Religion and Citizens of Humanity, which you would otherwise have to travel to New York or Boston to find. The designer prices may make some a little leery, but Flynn's individual attention and tailoring are well worth it.
